

Eat & Drink

Winter is a great time to visit The Old Neptune on Whitstable Beach in Kent. Order some whitebait and a bottle of Whitstable Bay Ale and watch the dark grey clouds roll in off the sea. Raindrops drip, drip through the old tiled roof and collect in pint glasses dotted around the floor...

Go & Stay

Imagine lying in bed on a Monday morning, sipping tea and reading the papers; a breakfast of porridge and local kippers in front of a blazing fire; when everyone else has gone back to work. It's the Sunday Sleepover at the brilliant Gurnard's Head in Cornwall

Eat & Drink

Elinor gives a big thumbs up to Plateau, a great little restaurant in the heart of Brighton that pulls in food-loving locals. Think French bistro dining at its most cosy, lively and comforting, all twinkly lights, happy background chatter and the most delicious food, cocktails and natural wine...
